

Tajikistan's energy storage companies exporting

Why should Tajikistan invest in hydropower? Tajikistan's geographic proximity to some of the world's fastest-growing energy markets means that investing in developing its hydropower potential can contribute to regional energy security and the clean energy transition, in addition to addressing Tajikistan's high vulnerability to climate change and natural disasters. Can Tajikistan become a net energy exporter? The Government of Tajikistan aims to transform itself from a net energy importer to a net energy exporter, on the strength of its potential for hydropower and solar power production. According to the World Bank, Tajikistan's power production is 92 percent hydropower, six percent hydrocarbon, and two percent from other sources. Can Tajikistan export electricity? Several options for Tajikistan's cross-border electricity trading are explored in this report. The analysis indicates that resource availability and variations in seasonal electricity demand profiles in relation to its neighbours provide opportunities for Tajikistan to export electricity. What is Tajikistan's most valuable export product? At the more granular four-digit Harmonized Tariff System code level, uncarded and uncombed cotton represents Tajikistan's most valuable exported product (15.4% of the Tajikistani total). How did Tajikistan's exports perform compared to other countries? Tajikistan's shipments of unknitted nor non-crocheted clothing and accessories posted the third-fastest gain in value, up by 10.3% year over year. The leading decliner among Tajikistan's top 10 export categories was ores, slag and ash which fell -48.3%, pulled down by lesser revenues notably for zinc, precious metals and lead ores or concentrates. How much did Tajikistan export in ? A landlocked, mountainous nation in Central Asia, the Republic of Tajikistan shipped US$1.3 billion worth of exported products around the world in . That dollar amount results from a 15.9% increase compared to $1.12 billion 5 years earlier in .
